WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT ECT

Once you have had your medical clearance work-up for ECT and are approved for treatment, review the following instructions and information prior to your first and subsequent treatments.

No smoking after midnight the night before ECT treatments.

You are to have nothing to eat/drink, including chewing gum or mints, as of midnight the night before your scheduled appointment. You may brush your teeth, but don’t swallow any water. The exceptions to this are if you are advised to take caffeine one hour before treatment, or take a blood pressure pill or heart medication (take a very small sip of water). Inhalers for asthma/bronchitis should be taken one hour prior to treatment.

If you are presently taking any of the following medications, please note the medication and delete or hold time:

a. Ritalin — hold a.m. dose, morning of the treatment, resume after ECT
b. Lithium — stop 24 hours before treatment
c. Klonopin or Ativan — hold a.m. dose morning of treatment, resume after ECT
d. Glucophage — do not take 24 hours before each treatment, resume after ECT
e. Depakote, Lamictal, and Neurontin — hold the evening before treatment and the a.m. dose, may take a.m. dose after ECT treatment
f. Reserpine — discontinue this medication three weeks prior to starting treatment
g. MAO inhibitors — discontinue this medication two weeks prior to starting treatment
h. Coumadin — INR (blood level) must be < 2.4 to have ECT

The day of your appointment you should be accompanied by a family member or friend that will bring you to the ECT suite and take you home after the treatment. You may not drive a car for 24 hours after the treatment. The actual ECT treatment is about 45 minutes to one hour (this is from the time you enter the treatment room until you leave the recovery room).

If you have had any recent surgery, emergency room visits, or flu-like symptoms, please inform the nurse in the ECT area.

Common side effects after treatment include: muscle aches, jaw pain, headache, some dizziness, confusion, and occasionally nausea. Nausea and dizziness should subside within 24 hours.

Most patients receive a series of six to 12 treatments. Some patients find that maintenance ECT is best for them. You and your referring psychiatrist may discuss this option.

You will notice an increase in memory loss due to the frequency of treatments. Keep a notebook to write things down if you wish. Your memory should return within three to six weeks after stopping the treatment.

Dr. Jack Vaeth or Dr. Carlos Azcarate of Sheppard Pratt Health System, are the psychiatrists who will be performing the ECT treatment.
