Clinician Conversation

Monica Dominguez, LMSW
Therapist, Outpatient Mental Health Clinic
Mosaic Community Services, Inc.

Why did you become a social worker?
I spent several years teaching, and I found myself wanting to help students at levels beyond my capacity as a teacher, so I turned to social work. I also spent a summer in Greece working with refugees and “practicing” social work - case management, psych first aid, etc. before going to graduate school. This experience just increased my passion for wanting to help people and my eagerness to learn the skill sets to do so.

What are your current job tasks?
Currently I use different modalities of talk therapy to assist clients at the Outpatient Clinic. I also do a fair amount of case management, coordination of care, outcomes measures, treatment plans, and advocacy for clients.

What do you like best about your job?
I absolutely love my relationships with my clients.

What is your clinical philosophy?
I practice from a trauma-informed, intersectional, and systems perspective. It is important to have an understanding of the systems and environments that clients have been exposed to – these play a huge role in how clients function.

Thank you, Monica, for all you do!

Outpatient Civil Commitment Project
Behavioral Health Systems Baltimore

The Outpatient Civil Commitment (OCC) Program is a pilot program that serves adults with mental illness in Baltimore City who have not been served well by the existing behavioral health service system and have experienced multiple inpatient civil commitments to psychiatric facilities. OCC offers peer support and outreach to assist participants in making connections with behavioral health providers and/or other support services (e.g., housing, benefits, etc.). Individuals who meet the criteria can either participate voluntarily by signing a voluntary settlement agreement or be ordered into the program through an outpatient civil commitment hearing.
